THE END—5 points:

- Return the C89.5 booth and take a picture in our photo booth.

In honor of Seattle Pride, C89.5, and Bubble are hosting THE HUNT. The following is a list of rules for the hunt and tasks you can select from to accomplish.

How it works:

Come to the C89.5 booth and pick up everything you need to play.

A team consists of 2 – 6 people. As a team your goal is to rack up as many points as possible. The more point the better.

All photos and videos need to be posted on Facebook with the title of the picture/video and the hashtag #bubblesseattle.

When you have completed the scavenger hunt return to the C89.5 booth at the Seattle Center. Take a photo in our photo booth which will be posted on our website and then collect your prize.

A few other considerations:

1. “Entire Team” means your ENTIRE TEAM -- you will require an additional person to take the picture of all of you in one single photo. Complete strangers are often really helpful in this regard, if you are nice to them...and not too annoying.
2. “Person, Place or Thing” means ACTUAL item – you may NOT take a photo of a photo. Accordingly, you may not use a previous image or one from the internet and pretend that you took the picture during this THE HUNT.
3. “Someone” can be ANYONE – a friend, a teammate, a stranger... Just make sure you are polite and explain what you are doing. Remember, even old people were teenagers once.
4. “Stranger” means someone you DO NOT KNOW – Someone you have never met and are seeing for the first time. Thus once you’ve had a complete stranger in one picture you now “know” this person and they cannot be used in any other pictures that call for a “Stranger” in the photo. Use good judgment when talking to strangers. Keep yourself and your teammates safe.
5. Each picture may count only for ONE item – a picture of some guy “eating a hamburger” while he is “wearing no socks” can only be submitted for either one NOT BOTH.
6. By participating in THE HUNT you UNDERSTAND AND AGREE TO ABIDE BY ALL RULES AND REGULATION OF “THE HUNT”.
